These scarlet red, tart and tangy berries are tiny but potent “superfruits.” They score among the highest of all fruits in antioxidants which help with memory retention and coordination.

Wisconsin is the #1 cranberry producer in the United States, producing around 5 million barrels of cranberries a year, with each barrel weighing about 100 pounds.

There are over 4000 cranberries in one gallon of freshly pressed juice.